

1/4/2014

Hello folks

Circus classes will start again next term and I am hoping that all those who attended last year will continue on. I would like to change a few things next term and take a slightly different path, working more towards performance and involving the community (that's you) wherever expertise or support can be provided.

I would also like to introduce Andrew Milne, who has a background in community youth circus and comes from Circus Avalon in Newcastle. Andrew brings a strong focus on building community through training, group performance and skill sharing and is really excited to be part of this program. He has some inspiring ideas to grow what we have already started. Rocky and myself will also be part of the classes with the possibility of other guest visitors.

I will be holding a meeting on Wednesday 23rd April 2014 at 5 - 5.30pm in the library, to outline the 3 terms of circus at Collingwood. This is the first Wednesday of term Two. Your attendance at this meeting would be greatly appreciated and if unable to attend, please send apologies to ensure we retain your child's place if required. Classes will be starting second week of term 2 and depending on numbers, we will still run a Monday and Wednesday class for students in classes 4 and above.

Regards
